

Welcome to Madison County, the fastest growing county in Idaho! Madison County combines an atmosphere of honor for its history and values, but with an eye on future growth. Our County provides a welcoming business atmosphere, a low cost of living, a high standard for quality of life, a continuous pool of trained and qualified talent, and an environment of innovation and entrepreneurship.

Madison County is home to the Cities of Rexburg and Sugar City with a total population of over fifty thousand residents. Our residents enjoy beautiful and inviting communities with educational, cultural, and recreational opportunities.

Educational opportunities abound here in Madison County. We are home to Brigham Young University Idaho. In addition, our residents have access to multiple technology college programs. The County also hosts two of the top-rated K-12 school districts in the state.

Located on the upper Snake River plain, Madison County is a beautiful place to live, with diverse landscapes from the Targhee National Forest of the Big Hole Mountains, rolling hills, rich agricultural land, and intertwined between it all flows the Teton River, Henry's Fork River, and the South Fork of the Snake River. Madison County is the entryway for outdoor living. Home to Bear World, Idaho's number one wildlife attraction. The County has over 160 miles of groomed snowmobile trails, along with miles of mountain biking and hiking opportunities. Madison County is just a short distance from Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks. Along with our multiple local parks, and several cultural events, including hosting the Idaho International Dance Festival, Madison County is the place to be.

Doing business in Madison County is a smart decision. Innovation and development are fundamental to our culture. We look forward to having you join our community.

www.co.madison.id.us

Residents within 90 miles
400,000

